*“Then saith he unto his disciples,
The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest.”*
Matthew 9:37-38

I wonder sometimes, reading these verses, if we are looking for and praying for the wrong thing. Are we praying for harvest, when we should be praying for and preparing workers? The primary focus of Jesus' ministry was not the teeming masses but his team of disciples. Why? Because he knew if He could choose and train them well, when He released them they would turn their world upside down.

The Lord knew the exponential impact of one well-chosen worker! One woman at the well could turn an entire Samaritan city to Him. One praying Cornelius would have his family waiting when the apostle arrived with the Gospel. One Saul, a resister of truth, would become the most fruitful apostle in the New Testament. One fearful Ananias would set the transformation in motion with a timely word for a blind but repentant opponent.

Of all the things we do in missionary work, the thing that brings the most fulfillment is teaching and mentoring. Saving the lost is the first part of our mandate, training them to become disciples of Christ is the second more arduous and fulfilling task. I am so grateful to those who have joined us in the journey as labourers in the field. Those who not only attend, but work hard to see others impacted by the Gospel!

Through discipleship classes and Purpose Institute campuses, we are continually training people here in Montreal and in Trois-Rivières to become more effective disciples of Christ and labourers in the harvest. We are also incredibly thankful to others who passionately train workers, such as Northeast Christian College. All around the Montreal region we have benefited from the skills and passion of NCC graduates and students on weekend ministry. We extend our thanks to this school and to its president, Mel Calhoun, for their concern for harvest in the unique mission field of Quebec.

Throughout Canada, we have students who have trained to become bilingual in order to improve their career opportunities. What would happen if as we prayed for trained laborers, hearts would turn to the needy French-speaking fields of our country, here in Quebec, but also in New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba etc.?

I am praying for labourers, workers who will turn their unique gifts over to the One who made them. I am praying that the Lord will send them into His harvest, and I am praying that they will hear and obey His sending call!
